DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. In an attempt to overcome the 35 U.S.C. § 101 rejections, Applicant has amended claims 34 and 39 to recite that a computer performs the various steps of the claim. However, Applicant's amendments have not completely overcome the 35 U.S.C. § 101 rejections. Current USPTO practice requires that software be claimed using the following form: "A computer-readable medium encoded with a data structure [or software] for" Any other language fails to define structural and functional interrelationships between the data structure and the computer software and hardware components which permit the data structure's functionality to be realized. Since Applicant has not included such language in claims 34 and 39, Examiner maintains that claims 34-43, as amendment, are non-statutory.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

- 2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:
 - Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.
- 3. Claims 34-43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.
- 4. Claim 34, line 1, recites: "A computer implemented method in which a computer performs the method comprising". Claim 39, line 6, recites: "a scheduler module coupled to the memory module having a computer that." Current USPTO practice requires that software be claimed using the following form: "A computer-readable medium encoded with a data structure [or software] for" Any other language fails to define structural and functional interrelationships between the data structure and the computer software and hardware components which permit the data structure's functionality to be realized. As such, any other language for claiming a computer program is non-statutory. Therefore, Applicant should amend claims 34 and 39 to have the computer limitation of these claims track the above language.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 44-53 are allowed. The prior art does not disclose or fairly suggest using a speed-up signal and a speed-up counter as provided for in these claims.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
